CONDITIONING GUIDELINES

How you begin your exercise program depends on your physical condition. If you have been inactive for several years or are severely overweight, start slowly and increase your workout time gradually. Increase your workout intensity gradually by monitoring your heart rate while you exercise.

Remember to follow these essentials:

- Have your doctor review your training and diet programs.
- Begin your training program slowly with realistic goals that have been set by you and your physician.
- Warm up before you exercise and cool down after you work out.
- Take your pulse periodically during your workout and strive to stay within a range of 60% (lower intensity) to 90% (higher intensity) of your maximum heart rate zone. Start at the lower intensity, and build up to higher intensity as you become more aerobically fit.
- If you feel dizzy or lightheaded you should slow down or stop exercising.

Initially you may only be able to exercise within your target zone for a few minutes; however, your aerobic capacity will improve over the next six to eight weeks. It is important to pace yourself while you exercise so you don't tire too quickly.

To determine if you are working out at the correct intensity, use a heart rate monitor or use the table below. For effective aerobic exercise, your heart rate should be maintained at a level between 60% and 90% of your maximum heart rate. If just starting an exercise program, work out at the low end of your target heart rate zone. As your aerobic capacity improves, gradually increase the intensity of your workout by increasing your heart rate.

Measure your heart rate periodically during your workout by stopping the exercise but continuing to move your legs or walk around. Place two or three fingers on your wrist and take a six second heartbeat count. Multiply the results by ten to find your heart rate. For example, if your six second heartbeat count is 14, your heart rate is 140 beats per minute. A six second count is used because your heart rate will drop rapidly when you stop exercising. Adjust the intensity of your exercise until your heart rate is at the proper level.

Target Heart Rate Zone Estimated by Age*

Age	Target Heart Rate Zone (55%-90% of Maximum Heart Rate)	Average Maximum Heart Rate 100%
20 years	110-180 beats per minute	200 beats per minute
25 years	107-175 beats per minute	195 beats per minute
30 years	105-171 beats per minute	190 beats per minute
35 years	102-166 beats per minute	185 beats per minute
40 years	99-162 beats per minute	180 beats per minute
45 years	97-157 beats per minute	175 beats per minute
50 years	94-153 beats per minute	170 beats per minute
55 years	91-148 beats per minute	165 beats per minute
60 years	88-144 beats per minute	160 beats per minute
65 years	85-139 beats per minute	155 beats per minute
70 years	83-135 beats per minute	150 beats per minute

\* For cardiorespiratory training benefits, the American College of Sports Medicine recommends working out within a heart rate range of 55% to 90% of maximum heart rate. To predict the maximum heart rate, the following formula was used:  $220 - \text{Age} = \text{predicted maximum heart rate}$

WARM-UP and COOL-DOWN

Warm-Up The purpose of warming up is to prepare your body for exercise and to minimize injuries. Warm up for two to five minutes before strength training or aerobic exercising. Perform activities that raise your heart rate and warm the working muscles. Activities may include brisk walking, jogging, jumping jacks, jump rope, and running in place.

Stretching Stretching while your muscles are warm after a proper warm-up and again after your strength or aerobic training session is very important. Muscles stretch more easily at these times because of their elevated temperature, which greatly reduces the risk of injury. Stretches should be held for 15 to 30 seconds. Do not bounce.

Suggested Stretching Exercises

Lower Body Stretch

Place feet shoulder-width apart and lean forward. Keep this position for 30 seconds using the body as a natural weight to stretch the backs of the legs.

DO NOT BOUNCE!

When the pull on the back of the legs lessens, gradually try a lower position.

Floor Stretch

While sitting on the floor, open the legs as wide as possible. Stretch the upper body toward the knee on the right leg by using your arms to pull your chest to your thighs. Hold this stretch 10 to 30 seconds.

DO NOT BOUNCE!

Do this stretch 10 times. Repeat the stretch with the left leg.

Bent Torso Pulls

While sitting on the floor, have legs apart, one leg straight and one knee bent. Pull the chest down to touch the thigh on the leg that is bent, and twist at the waist. Hold this position at least 10 seconds. Repeat 10 times on each side.

Bent Over Leg Stretch

Stand with feet shoulder-width apart and lean forward as illustrated. Using the arms, gently pull the upper body towards the right leg. Let the head hang down. DO NOT BOUNCE!

Hold the position a minimum of 10 seconds. Repeat pulling the upper body to the left leg. Do this stretch several times slowly.

Remember to always check with your physician before starting any exercise program.

Cool-Down The purpose of cooling down is to return the body to its normal, or near normal, resting state at the end of each exercise session. A proper cool-down slowly lowers your heart rate and allows blood to return to the heart. Your cool-down should include the stretches listed above and should be completed after each strength training session.

WIRK™ ORBIT WORKOUT GUIDE

Hey there, WIRKaholic, you've purchased the WIRK Orbit. Great job! Now, you need to learn to use this beast. The following are exercises that can be performed under your desk while you 9 to 5 it. While you use the Orbit, you should sit up straight with your core engaged. Try not to lean on the back rest of your chair. So, go ahead, get your WIRK on!

WIRK™ ORBIT EXERCISES

THE NO-BRAINER

This one is as straight forward as your accounting practices. Place your new office kicks on the pedals and stride forward and backwards like you are walking. Keep your knees loosey-goosey (technical term) and slightly bent. Keep this motion going for 5 minutes, 20 minutes, or as long as you feel like it because this is your office, and these are your legs!

THE CELEBRATORY NO-BRAINER

You're happy about your new office fitness regiment and you want to let people know about it. You also want to strengthen your desk jockey arms. While you perform the No-Brainer, take one arm and put it straight up in the air like you like just hit a half court shot at the buzzer. With each stride, bend at the elbow and bring your hand back behind your head. Repeat 10 times and switch arms. For best results, invite a co-worker into your office for repeated high fives.

THE SIDE SWEEPER

Assume the same position as the No-Brainer with your feet on the pedals (duh, this is the only way to use the Orbit). Push both feet directly out to their respective sides at the same time, like you're doing the world's lowest toe touch. Then, slowly lower your feet back to the starting position. Complete 10 Side Sweepers, rest and repeat. Feel free to type, surf the web, or give finger pistols to your office mates while Side Sweeping. For the office "Over Achiever" twist your body to the right on one rep and to the left on the next. To increase productivity, use this motion to move objects from one side of the desk to the other.

THE TRIPLE LUTZ

From the starting position, push your right foot forward and to the right as you bring your left foot back and to the left, then reverse the motion, just like you're skating. Repeat on the other side. Do 10-20 reps on each side, rest and repeat. Figure skating uniform is optional.

THE OOPTY OOP

Break out the dress code approved sweatbands because it's about to get real! From the starting position, push both feet forward, out to side, to the back, and then back to the starting position making a full circle or...Orbit (BOOM!). Repeat 10 times. If you so dare, reverse the direction to perform the Reverse Oopty Oop. We've heard it's been done, but that's just office rumor.

Coaster Toss

On the bottom of the WIRK Orbit box, you'll notice a point system for the WIRK Coaster Toss. Use the included WIRK coaster to hold your coffee cup, water, iced pomegranate lemonade, or to play COASTER TOSS!!!

Rules:

One player at a time will toss the coaster from a predetermined distance to the box, attempting to land the coaster onto the box. We recommend 3 paces, but the distance for your game is up to you. Choose tossing order by drawing straws, flipping a coin, playing paper-rock-scissors, alphabetical by last name, shoe size, etc.

Points are determined by the section of the box where the coaster comes to rest. If the coaster lies between two sections, the player is awarded the points where the majority of the coaster lies (i.e. if more than half of the coaster is in the 30 point section, player is awarded 30 points). No points are earned if the coaster falls off the box.

First player to earn 100 or more points wins. Every player shall get an equal number of tosses. For example, if player 1 reaches 100 points in 5 tosses, the other players shall get to toss their fifth attempt if they are within tying range. The winner is determined by the player who has the highest score over 100 at the end of the round.

In the event of a tie, a one toss tiebreaker shall be held between the players. The player with the highest one toss score will be the winner. Tiebreaker toss shall be repeated until a winner is determined.

The winner shall be rewarded with a prize of the group's choosing. We suggest ownership of the WIRK Coaster until the game is played again.
